Girl Forest Patrol Stops
Many Fires in California

San Francisco, March 18.—In spite of one of the driest seasons ever experienced in the West, there will be few forest fires this year. If Miss Mollie Ingoldby, forest lookout on Mount Elwell in the heart of Lake County, California, remains on the job.

Up on the top of the highest mountain range, miles and miles from her nearest neighbor, this active little robust woman spends weeks at a time, alone. Mail, food and water are brought to her from the outside every two weeks.

Not the smallest wisp of smoke in her extensive reserve escapes the eye of Miss Ingoldby. From daybreak until dark, she remains continually on the watch, ever ready to warn nearby rangers of the slightest sign of danger.

Already she has discovered several fires, and through her efforts, one man is now serving a long term in the penitentiary, convicted of incendiarism. Miss Ingoldby who is one of several women employed by the United States Forest Service, remains in her little cabin all through the summer months until the coming of winter when the danger of forest fires is minimized. Should any fire break out near her station the responsibility for its control falls upon her shoulders and she is expected to obtain help from nearby mines and ranches, assume command, and if help is unobtainable, to fight the fire herself.

HORSE KILLS
MRS. J. W. CROSS

Popular New York Society
Woman Kicked to Death
By Mount.

While a house guest at the Southern country place of Senator Medill McCormick, at Pinehurst, N. C., Mrs. Lilly Lee Cross, prominent in New York society, was kicked to death by a frightened saddle horse last Thursday.

When a riding party of about a half dozen, including Mrs. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen, of New York, and others, were cantering through the hills adjacent to Pinehurst, Mrs. Cross' horse became restive. As they approached a steep grade, its restlessness grew more intense, and it balked. Mrs. Cross tried to slip from the saddle. As she did so her foot caught in the stirrup and the unmanageable animal kicked her to death before the party could reach her.

Mrs. Cross' husband, John W. Cross, of New York City, was immediately notified, and her body was taken to New York. The horse party, which was a picnic, broke up at once, and Mrs. McCormick followed Mrs. Cross' body to New York to extend her personal condolences to the family. She attended the funeral there Friday.

Mrs. Cross was a member of the old Page family of Louisville, Ky., and was noted for her beauty and vivacity.

"ANTIS" FIGHT FOR DELAWARE

Aim to Delay Vote on Suffrage Issue, Sure to Be Close.

(Public Ledger Service.)
Wilmington, Dela., March 20.—The vote on the ratification of the suffrage amendment will, from all indications, be very close. All sorts of political finesse will be attempted to delay the final vote to the last minute. If it is possible, the amendment people in both house and senate will filibuster to the bitter end. They would, if possible, have the extra session, which began on Monday, adjourn without taking any action on suffrage.

There are two conspicuous objections to ratification—race prejudice and increase of taxation.

There are something like 9,000 colored women in Delaware who will be entitled to vote should the amendment be ratified, and this is one argument that is being used, particularly in the southern part of the State.

An estimate of a gentleman familiar with the legislative process, who is anxious to invade London, according to the London Evening Standard, some definite advice is offered in a consular report received yesterday by the State Department from London. This army of invasion is advised to first make arrangements for hotel accommodations in London and to obtain definite terms before departure for England.

The State Department says: "The functions of the American consulate general have nothing to do with hotel facilities. Consular officers do not attend to the engaging of hotel accommodations and such matters will have to be attended to by the persons interested."

MORE CENSUS FIGURES MADE PUBLIC HERE

The Census Bureau last night announced the following population totals: St. Paul, Minn., 234,535; Rock Island, Ill., 35,177; Albany, N. Y., 113,244; Rensselaer, N. Y., 10,822; Watervliet, N. Y., 16,073; Mechanicsville, N. Y., 5,166; and Hudson Falls, N. Y., 5,761.

The increases since 1910 follow: St. Paul, 19,551 persons or 9.2 per cent; Rock Island, 10,842 or 44.6 per cent; Albany, 13,991 or 15.1 per cent; Watervliet, 991 or 6.4 per cent; Mechanicsville, 1,532 or 22.1 per cent, and Hudson Falls, 573 or 11 per cent.

Warehouse Construction
Urged for Car Shortage

Construction of large warehouses in Atlantic ports was urged by O. F. Jacobs, warehouse commissioner of Minnesota, before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee yesterday. The plan, he said, would relieve the car shortage which has resulted from congested terminals in the East and filled Western grain elevators and storage houses to overflowing.

Too much sleep is almost as injurious as not getting quite enough, says the United States Public Health Service. The average adult should sleep eight hours in every twenty-four.

State Department Refuses
Role of Hotel Agency

To the "100,000 rich Americans who are anxious to invade London," according to the London Evening Standard, some definite advice is offered in a consular report received yesterday by the State Department from London. This army of invasion is advised to first make arrangements for hotel accommodations in London and to obtain definite terms before departure for England.

The State Department says: "The functions of the American consulate general have nothing to do with hotel facilities. Consular officers do not attend to the engaging of hotel accommodations and such matters will have to be attended to by the persons interested."
